

CSED has Two Electronic Payment Options:

As an employer, you play a vital role in the success of the child support program. Your cooperation and involvement ensures families receive the financial support they need.

Our electronic payment services provide an easy and efficient way to make payments—saving you time and money.

Resources:

For more information about remitting CSED payments electronically, or interpreting the format of the child support addenda record, contact:

- Alaska EFT coordinator at (907) 269-6750

For information about ACH and ACH software, contact your local financial institution.

Electronic Funds Transfer (EFT)

EFT offers a number of advantages to employers. These include:

- No lost, stolen or delayed checks
- No possibility of check or mail fraud
- EFT works with many states using a standard EFT file

Accurate and efficient disbursement of funds to the family by AK CSED State Disbursement Unit (SDU)

Employers may send child support payments through their financial institutions bank internet site or software using the CCD+ or CTX format. The National Automated Clearing House Association (NACHA) approved standardized format for child support withholding payments is accepted by all child support agencies. This set up is initiated with your financial institution.

Please contact your bank representative for assistance to find out if these two ACH options are available for your business.

Business Services Portal

Through the AK CSED Business Services Portal, employers can pay child support withholdings using a secure internet website. It's a free service for both small and large employers.

Go to:

<https://acsess.childsupport.alaska.gov/businessportal/>

1. Click 'Register Here'
2. Create your account by entering your business name, business email address, password, and phone number
3. Choose your security questions to help with future password resets
4. Select your two-step verification to enhance the security of your business
5. Click 'Log In'

Third Party Processor

If you use a third party processor for payroll and garnishment services, please contact your third party payroll representative and request they remit your employee's child support garnishment electronically to our agency.
